

8TH ANNUAL CONFERENCE

March 26th to April 1st ————— 2015
London / Paris / Cambridge / Fontainebleau

Sponsored by

Thank you from the AIGAC Board of Directors

When AIGAC was founded nine years ago, little did we imagine that we would see so much growth in so little time. We are so proud that this year's conference is being held in the world capitals of London and Paris, with seventeen leading business schools from nine countries and AIGAC members attending from ten countries. This truly reflects the "I" (for "International") in AIGAC!

We look forward to meeting for five enriching days of information sharing, networking, educating, and friendship on the premises of HEC Paris, INSEAD, London Business School and Cambridge Judge Business School as well as over the fabulous meals and events being generously offered by our wonderful sponsors.

We would like to thank Luke Ashby of London Business School, Tina Francois of INSEAD, Luciano Rolon of HEC Paris and Conrad Chua of Judge Business School for their dedication of time and resources to host our conference at their schools. We also want to thank our Conference Chair, Candy Lee LaBalle, and our hard-working Conference Committee, Marlena Corcoran, Cristina Freeman, Tanis Kmetyk and Andrea Sparrey for making our 8th annual conference a global reality!

Of course, none of this would happen without your support as members and believers in the AIGAC mission. Thank you, cin cin, cheers, and see you soon!

EMPRESARIAL

The economy's irreversible globalization tendency has created increasing demand for executives with international experience. This has prompted many professionals to try their luck abroad in courses that do not meet their needs and that end up causing them frustration and wasted financial resources.

Transportation

PARIS

The Paris metro is really quite safe, efficient, and widely used, even at night. However, the #1 line is notorious for pickpockets. A single ride ticket is €1,80. A packet of 10 tickets, a “carnet,” costs €14,10. They can be purchased at any metro station but beware that you need a credit card with a chip to use the machines. You can also buy tickets at the window if the agent is there (budget cuts have hit hard and deep!). Best to do this in daytime hours, before you go out to the museum, at any metro station. You can split a carnet with colleagues, and the tickets are good any time, any day. You can also pick up a free paper metro map at any station.

Paris Metro map

(note that the metro runs 1 hour later on Friday and Saturday nights.)

HEC PARIS – JOUY EN JOSAS

The campus of HEC Paris is located just outside of Paris at: 1, rue de la Libération, 78351 Jouy en Josas.

HEC will pick up AIGAC conference attendees on Thursday, the 26th of March at 1 pm in front of the Bibliothèque Sainte-Geneviève, 10 Place du Panthéon, 75005 Paris. Map

HEC will drive us to the Fondation Louis Vuitton at 5:30 pm (ETA 7:15 pm). Guests must return to their hotels on their own. If for some reason, you prefer to travel on your own to or from HEC, here is the relevant link.

INSEAD – FONTAINEBLEAU

The campus of INSEAD is located about 1.5 hours outside of Paris at: Boulevard de Constance, 77300 Fontainebleau.

INSEAD will pick up AIGAC conference attendees on Friday, the 27th of March at 10 am in front of the Bibliothèque Sainte-Geneviève, 10 Place du Panthéon, 75005 Paris. Map

INSEAD will return us by bus to the same location at 9:00 pm (ETA 10:00 pm). If for some reason, you prefer to travel on your own to or from INSEAD/Fontainebleau, here is the relevant link.

EUROSTAR

Train between France and the United Kingdom

For those of you taking the Eurostar, the fast-speed train that links Paris with London in 2.5 hours, you need to go to the Gare du Nord train station, with the metro station of the same name, where you will go through customs in a wing dedicated to the Eurostar. The train is well marked throughout the station with a stylized “e” logo. Note that the transfer between the metro and the Eurostar wing is approximately 15 minutes. Check in at least 30 minutes before departure. Website

Getting to the Gare du Nord:

18 Rue Dunkerque
Paris 75010

By train, metro and bus:

Gare du Nord is served both by métro and RER lines (the suburban train line) as well as a number of bus routes.

More information

LONDON

The London Tube is vast, fast, and very efficient. It is also pricey. In fact, depending on how many zones you may be traversing and how many rides you intend to take in a day, it may be substantially cheaper to take a day pass.

Tube map

This site also gives information on buses, overground trains and Eurostar transfers.

The Eurostar arrives at the King's Cross/St Pancras station. You can also plan your trip within the city, to/from the airports or the Eurostar, and find out how much it will cost you (see the tabs at the top of the page.) for the various fares and payments here.

The main tube stations for London Business School are Marylebone and Baker Street. Each is an approximately 6 minute walk.

London's iconic black cabs are quite expensive, but the drivers are extraordinary fonts of information. Minicabs can be substantially cheaper. For information on both, here.

Kabbee is a cheaper, uber-like alternative.

CAMBRIDGE

Judge Business School is located at University of Cambridge, Trumpington Street, Cambridge CB2 1AG, United Kingdom. Members will travel to Cambridge on their own, via the local train company. Website

We ask that everyone meet at the Kings' Cross station at 8:30 am in order to make the 9:14 train which will put us into Cambridge at 10:06. Tickets can be bought at the station or online (round-trip is approximately 24 pounds).

Judge Business School will pick us up by bus and transport us to the campus. Following the day's events, including the Punting (boat) tour, the school will transport us back to the train station (appr. 3:00 pm). If you prefer to travel to or from Judge on your own, here is the link.

If you are carrying your luggage to Judge, there will be room to store it at the school, however it cannot be taken onto the Punting (boat) tour, nor is there any storage of luggage in the Cambridge bus station. If you need to go directly to an airport from Cambridge, check the train schedules and also the bus company, here.
